Remembrance Day - 1963

BY GENERAL ALBERT ORSBORN

Gently our banners dip their three-fold glory,
When, with bowed head, the nation stands to pray,
While, with dumb lips, the nation tells the story
Of those who marched along a bloody way;
And some who went, but did not come again!
Oh, the sad hearts, the loneliness,

Here in the silence, we recall the moment
When came the message to a weary world:
"The war is over; Ended is the torment; Closed is the slaughter; battle-flags are fur'd!"

"Tis years ago! And yet we cannot say

That there is peace in the world's heart today.

Yet, as of old, when meet the sad and weary,

Not understanding and not understood,

There shines a light beyond the veil of mystery,

And hearts divine the truth, that God is good;

While One draws nigh to temper our distress,

To cleanse old wounds, to purge all bitterness.

Oh, that the world might find the secret hidden
From all the wise, but open'd to the child!

Then, nothing doubting, come, as God has bidden,

Into His arms, where all are reconciled.

Man of OUR Sorrows! Jesus! Prince of Peace,

Give men to know Thy greater Armistice!

Suffers Burns

James Edgar, a mechanic at McFarlane's Garage, suffered painful burns to his face and hands in a flash fire at the garage yesterday. He was working in the grease pit underneath a car and in lighting an acetylene torch ignited gas fumes gathered there. Fortunately his clothing did not catch fire and the flames subsided quickly.

His department was in charge of Institutes of Technology and Trade, conducting a programme in small business training, retraining unemployed, rehabilitation of crippled and disabled, etc. These new centres of learning now being constructed in different parts of the province were entirely different from the technical additions to Belleville and Madoc secondary schools. Trip To Russia

Turning to his trip to Russia Mr. Johnston painted a vivid picture of conditions as he saw them behind the iron curtain. There were eleven in the party and they were very well treated, although there were some annoyances, such as being relieved of their passports, money and tickets on arrival at Moscow.

Their hotel accommodations was about third class, stated Mr. Johnston. The rooms were clean and the personnel most kind, but each person was given only one towel for the week.

He described the Trade Fair, which operates the year round, each state in the U.S.S.R. having ornate buildings and displays peculiar to the individual state. There were also displays of industrial products of the whole country. Lenin's Tomb and the Red Square which surrounds the Kremlin, were also described and these are a "must" for any visitor to Moscow, stated Mr. Johnston.

Many of the churches have been turned into museums and are sadly neglected although quite a number are being restored today.

The women dig ditches and load trucks and wear peasant type clothes, although you do see men and women immaculately dressed.

Homes in Moscow were generally small, but Mr. Johnston said the Russian

Rylstone

Mrs. Clarence Thomson, Mrs. Jack Spencer and Mrs. Bob Spencer attended a miscellaneous shower for their cousin, Virginia Davis, bride-elect, at her home, Glen Miller, on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Roy Barton visited Mrs. Richard Morton on Thursday and attended the Hallowe'en party at the school.

Hallowe'en parties were held at both schools on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance of witches, tramps, Indians, spooks, etc. Refreshments of cookies, tarts and candy was served after the short programme.

Hallowe'en has come and gone again for another year with the usual rash of decapitated mail boxes, etc. The long awaited rain came on Hallowe'en night to dampen the fun of the little folks a little, but it did not seem to deter the bird-brains (with apologies to the birds) who broke down every mail box in the district as far as we know and destroyed some. Not only that, but the 9th Line School was broken into and the teacher's desk, new this Fall, was broken and school records tossed around the floor. Windows were also broken at the Gospel Hall. We think it is high time the Township or County Councils did something to stop this vandalism which seems prevalent around this district. It is the feeling of the writer that Hallowe'en should be outlawed to anyone over 4 feet high.

Ted Reid attended Ottawa Winter Fair last week as a member of the Stirling 4-H Club. His 4-H Club holstein calf was placed in the 1st prize row. Stirling 4-H Club members exhibiting included Ted Reid, Larry Jeffs and Kelvin Sharp, who came third as a group. Ted's father, Percy Reid, attended the Fair on Friday.

Mrs. Dan Petherick, of Stanwood, spent last week with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petherick.

A money shower was held at the Orange Hall, Petherick's Corners, on Saturday evening, in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lounsbury (nee Patsy Spencer). There was a large crowd in attendance and Wm. Rutherford invited the bridal pair to a seat of honour on the platform where Glen Stewart read an address and Barbara Milne presented them with a purse of money. Both Gary and Pat made suitable replies, inviting all to visit them at their new home in Peterborough. There was no programme but the young folks enjoyed a few hours of dancing to a record player.

Marilyn Stewart spent Thursday night in Stirling with her friend, at Livesey's

Patsy Mallory.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

A silence in the crowded street, And memory stirs in every breast, Again are heard the phantom feet Of those who 'neath the poppies rest. We see them marching as of yore, These brave lads to beat of drum; But oh! the anguished hearts and sore, For they no more will homeward come.

PORK IS ALWAYS POPULAR

Checking statistics we soon realize that Canadians are very fond of pork for we find that the yearly consumption is well over 50 pounds per person. It is therefore good news to the homemaker to hear that pork is now plentiful and that prices are a little lower than they were last summer. Many a budget-conscious meat shopper will take advantage of the situation and much to the delight of her family will serve fresh pork more often than usual.

Pork is not sold by grade on the retail market. Because of this it is important to know the characteristics of good quality pork. The lean meat is firm, fine grained, and light greyish-pink in colour; the outer fat covering firm and white; the bones porous and slightly pink in colour.

Like other fresh meats pork should be taken out of its wrapping and wiped with a clean damp cloth, then it should be wrapped loosely in waxed paper and stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Everyone probably knows how important it is to cook pork thoroughly but it cannot be repeated too often. The secret to pork "à la gourmet" is moderately low heat, for example roasting in a 325 degs. F. oven, and long enough cooking to assure that the meat is well done in the center with no tinge of pink remaining. During the long slow cooking the rich pork flavour is fully developed and the outside surface has a good chance to become that attractive golden brown.

Pork can be served in many ways and fits well into both everyday and holiday meals. Moreover it is delicious hot or cold. The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture assures us that pork tenderloin, shoulder, and chops cooked according to the following recipes will be much enjoyed and appreciated both for flavour and appearance.

Tenderloin Rolls

1½ pounds pork tenderloin
Prepared mustard
2 cups well-seasoned bread stuffing
4 slices side bacon
1 cup thin créam
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Few grains salt, pepper and paprika

Cut tenderloin into 3-inch pieces. "French" (flatten) into ¼-inch thick slices. Spread slices with prepared mustard. Spread with bread stuffing. Roll and skewer. Cover each roll with a half slice of side bacon. Add lemon juice, salt, pepper and paprika to cream. Pour over rolls in shallow baking dish. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degs. F.) for about 1 hour or until tender. Makes 8 rolls.

NOTE — If desired the rolls may be baked in diluted cream or celery soup (1 cup soup, ½ cup milk, ½ bay leaf and ½ teaspoon pepper) instead of the cream-lemon juice mixture.

French Canadian Style

Pork Shoulder
4 to 5 pound pork shoulder
3 to 4 slivers of garlic

1 medium onion, sliced
Salt and pepper

Remove rind if still on meat. Brown meat well on all sides in its own fat in heavy kettle or dutch oven. Make deep slits in meat and insert slivers of garlic. Place meat fat side up. Add onion slices and season. Add 2 to 3 tablespoons water if necessary to prevent scorching. Cover and cook slowly 30 to 35 minutes per pound. Turn meat, fat side down during cooking to brown evenly.

Whole peeled potatoes may be cooked around the roast. Add about one hour before the meat is done.

Stuffed

Chop Roast

Make about 3 cups well-seasoned bread stuffing. Brown six ¾-inch rib chops well on each side. Place chops fat side up in a greased loaf pan, alternating chops and stuffing. Skewer or tie chops and stuffing together as a roast. Bake in center of a moderately slow oven (325 degs. F.) 1½ to 2 hours. Six servings.

No matter when or how pork is served, apples in one form or another make a perfect accompaniment. These tangy apple halves are especially good with no roast pork or chops.

Tangy

Apple Halves

3 medium-sized tart apples
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
¼ cup tomato catsup
Few grains salt

Wash apples, do not peel. Cut in half crosswise and scoop out core to form hollow. Place halves, cut side up, in a shallow baking pan. Blend together sugar, molasses, catsup and salt. Spoon mixture over apples. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degs. F.) until tender, about 35 minutes. Six servings.

NOTE — An additional 2 tablespoons of brown sugar may be substituted for the molasses.

INSURANCE

I was at the airport the other day and could not help noticing the number of passengers who took out travel insurance. They sealed it cheerfully and dropped it in the mail to the beneficiaries.

Some bought the limit, others a more moderate sum, but there must have been very few who did not bother with insurance at all.

It seemed to me that this illustrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that most people are altruistic to a considerable degree. None stood to benefit personally. The insurance cost them money, was a time-consuming nuisance to buy, but they did it and always with a surprising degree of cheerfulness.

It is a human desire to attempt to leave something behind for the comfort and care of one's family. And yet, to judge from our succession duties Act, the politicians think that this is a convenient place to reap some revenue. I believe that if those citizens who were purchasing travel

INDIAN SUMMER HOLDS WATERFOWL ON THE PRAIRIES

A report from Angus Gavin, General Manager of DUCKS UNLIMITED, states that warm sunny weather and a good supply of food are holding waterfowl on the prairies. Some southward movement of blue-winged teal and pintail has been in evidence. This, however, is normal for these two species as they migrate by the calendar rather than the weather. In the far north some freezing temperatures have been reported bringing an influx of geese and other waterfowl down to the central and southern prairies. Southern Alberta is said to hold the heaviest population of birds seen there in some years. The same situation applies to east-central Saskatchewan. Outlook for a good fall migration, says Gavin, is very encouraging. He cautions that weather conditions will dictate time and pattern of southward movement.

Here, in the south-central part of Ontario the duck reports to reach this particular hunter have not been overly encouraging. An occasional hunter appears to have had good shooting, but the majority find ducks scarce and feel that recent high temperature is the determining factor. It would appear that a drop in temperature is necessary before any heavy concentration of local ducks takes place. Then the birds are likely to whistle by in a hurry so hunters had better make every shot count. Chances are we won't have too many opportunities this fall.

While on the subject of ducks I'd like to mention an interesting project of four hunter friends of mine, Doug Carswell, Jack Connor, Don Hughes and Don Graham, all of Campbellford, have leased a considerable portion of marsh on Bradley Bay in order to preserve the area for local hunters.

To defray the expenses involved the boys have been selling a limited number of permits at $5.00 per person, to hunt in the area. This guarantees the permit holder shooting privileges for the 1963 duck season. The only requirements other than the $5.00 is that the permit holders be proven hunters with a respect for the hunting laws and the rights of other hunters.

Personally I consider this to be a splendid project and I commend the four organizers on their foresight and thoughtfulness. Should readers be interested in learning more about this matter they can contact the organizers personally. Likely many readers will.

SOUNDS OF NATURE

A series of long-playing records and insurance realized how much of it would be taken by the tax people in the event of a crash, they might not have been in such good humor.

The worst part of death duties is that few people realize how much they will be. We do not like to contemplate the end, and most of us haven't a clue as to the size and complexity of the death tax grab. Newspapers and radio stations ought to give some prominence to these figures. If they were more generally known, voters would demand that governments be less inclined to pick the pockets of bereaved families.

Succession duties may be a necessity. Perhaps there is some merit in not allowing huge fortunes to pass on from generation to generation, although that contention is debatable. There is, however, no excuse whatever for the heavy burden of taxes now placed on widows or widowers of only modest means. If the general public would study the matter, reform would be prompt and drastic.

Kiddie - Mucicka Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized, when Helen, youngest daughter of Mrs. William Mucicka, of Lachine, Que., became the bride of Mr. Douglas A. Kiddie, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kiddie, of Lachine, Que., formerly of Stirling, Ont., on August 21st, 1963, in St. Basil the Great Church, Lachine. The Rev. Father J. Kutney officiated. Standards of white gladioli decorated the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her godfather, Mr. George Mince, was in a gown of white poult de sole, having a boat neckline trimmed in lace and seed pearls. Her floor length veil of tulle illusion was held by three organza roses and she carried a bouquet of lilies and stephanotis.

Miss Carol Blahitka, as maid of honour and Miss Juliana Lukow as bridesmaid wore floor length Empire line gowns in poult de sole of gold and emerald green respectively. They wore matching pillbox hats and carried bouquets of bronze chaster pom-#### poms.

Little Miss Kathryn Zalusky, as flower girl wore a floor length dress of peach silk and carried a basket of white pompons.

Mr. Ralph Kiddie acted as best man for his brother. The usher was Mr. R. Simons, and the bridegroom's nephew, Master David Kiddie, was the ring bearer. The bridegroom and his attendants wore white dinner jackets with white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Mucicka, the bride's mother, was in a gown of royal blue chantung. She wore a white velvet hat and had a corsage bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Kiddie, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of azalea organza over pink taffeta with a contrasting hat and a corsage bouquet of pink tea roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall.

Later the newlyweds left on a motor trip to Lake George and New York City, the bride travelling in a three-piece ensemble of pink velvet, trimmed with white wool and a matching hat and a corsage bouquet of orchids. On their return the couple took up residence in Lachine, P.Q.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. Thomas Hutchison and Miss Clair Wenker, of Long Island, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yudelson, of East Greenfield, P.Q.; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bedrosian, Rochester, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter McHugh, Pont Rouge, P.Q.; Mr. and Mrs. David E. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elwood Stickle, Belleville, are pictured following their marriage in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, October 19th. The bride is the former Margaret Jeanne MacKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roy MacKenzie, Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Guy Stickle, also of Belleville, and the late Mr. Guy Stickle.

Stickle - MacKenzie Wedding Solemnized

A lovely autumn wedding was solemnized in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, October 19th, when Margaret Jeanne MacKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roy MacKenzie, Belleville, who were celebrating their silver anniversary that same day, was united in marriage to Ray Elwood Stickle, and the late Mr. Guy Stickle. The Rev. M. G. McFarlane officiated before a background of pink carnations and white shasta daisies. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by the church organist who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Thomas Hinchee in his renditions of "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" before the ceremony and the "Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length bridal gown of silk faced peau de sole featuring a fitted bodice enhanced with a scalloped neckline of Alencon lace adorned with seed pearls and three-quarter length lace sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was highlighted with two back panels outlined with Alencon lace appliques. Her elbow-length veil of tulle illusion flowed from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink fascinators, white shasta daisies intermingled with daisy florettes and trailing ivy.

Miss Dawn Woods, of Belleville, as maid of honour, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Gordon Webb, sister of the bridegroom, of Hamilton, and Miss Sally MacKenzie, sister of the bride, as bridesmaids, were similarly attired in three shades of delphinium blue silk faced peau de sole enhanced with over jackets of silk organza in matching shades, with three-quarter length sleeves and floating panels. They wore matching shoes and headaddresses and each carried a cascade bouquet of carnation florettes and shasta daisies, mingled with maiden hair fern.

Miscellaneous showers were held by Miss Dawn Woods, Belleville; by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hubbs, Carrington Place, and a pantry shower was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. William Bateman with co-hostesses, Mrs. George Mills and Mrs. Gordon Lee. A trousseau tea was held at the home of the bride's parents on the Saturday previous to the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Stickle are residing at 14 Isabel Street, Belleville.

FALL FISHING FLASHES

In various parts of Hastings County we understand some fine fishing under balmy skies has been enjoyed these past couple of weeks. Word also reaches us of better than average catches from Frankford, on the Trent.

And at Stirling, Bruce Bell, an accountant landed a dandy Walleye weighing 8 lbs. 12 ounces. The fish had a 16 inch girth and measured 29 inches in length. The catch has been entered in the fishing derby sponsored by the Lower Trent Valley Fish and Game Association.

We don't know what Mr. Bell caught his fish on, but we do happen to have on hand a list of some of the lures that were winning contests back in the late 30's. I wonder how many of these are known to readers of this column. Let's see. (Pflueger Self-striker, South Bend Musk-Oreno, the Mud Puppy, Pflueger Yellow Bird, and the Marathon Musky Hound). Yes, these are lures that won top prizes in Field and Stream magazine's fishing contest back in 1939. If you happen to have one or more of these lures you are either an old-time fisherman or a collector of tackle. Whatever the case, give the lures a whirl and let us know what happens. If they took fish back in the 30's they should be effective today.

IT'S A FACT

Mistaking other hunters for game is still the cause of unnecessary hunting accidents. The remedy is simple — BE SURE OF YOUR TARGET BEFORE YOU SHOOT.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

SURVEY SHOWS WHY HOGS DON'T GRADE A

A recent survey by the Livestock Grading Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, has spotlighted the reasons why many Canadian hogs failed to earn the $3.00 good quality premium paid by the federal government on all "A" grade carcasses.

The main ones were carcasses that were too fat or were too light or too heavy for "A" grade requirements.

Weight limits for the top grade range from a minimum 135 pounds to a maximum 170 pounds.

Overfinish was the most important single factor for carcasses failing to earn the premium, the survey shows. Of those graded "B" but in the "A" grade weight range, 86.2 per cent were too fat, while 7.2 per cent failed to make the premium grade because of poor type — heavy shoulders, light hams, short sides and other defects.

Of the "B" grade hogs, 8.6 per cent were in the 125-134 pound weight range and too light for the top grade. Another 12.9 per cent weighed between 171 and 180 pounds and were too heavy.

Farmers in Saskatchewan marketed the largest percentage — 15.6 per cent — of lightweight hogs, while Ontario was lowest with 7.6 per cent.

In the overweight group, Quebec farmers marketed the largest number — 14.1 per cent — of "B" grade hogs. British Columbia had the best record in this category with 10 per cent.

Results of the survey, officers of the Livestock Division point out, emphasize that more farmers should market their hogs with less finish if they wish to cash in on the quality premium.

POTATO CROP FORECAST

Latest estimates indicate a 1963 Canadian potato crop amounting to 44.3 million hundredweight, says the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

The estimated yield is down from 1962's 47 million cwt., but is substantially above the 10-year average of 39.9 million cwt.

Acreage of potatoes was down this year, to 285,400 from 288,100 in 1962.

Indicated production in the four major potato producing provinces — in million hundredweight and with last year's yields in brackets — are:

Prince Edward Island, 7.1 (7.5); New Brunswick, 10.0 (10.7); Quebec, 9.0 (9.6); Ontario, 9.8 (9.6).

Credit -- A Useful Farm Tool

"Credit, handled by a competent operator at the right time, can be the most useful tool on the farm," says the Farm Credit Corporation in its recently revised information pamphlet: "Credit for Profit."

The FCC points out, "A few years ago, credit was regarded as something to be avoided and farmers took pride in being able to get along without it. However, mechanization and other technological developments in modern farming require greater investment and expenditures, the result being that today's operators must boost their income to meet mounting costs."

In 1960, a farmer fed himself and six other persons. Today, he produces enough for his own needs and 25 others.

"This increase in efficiency is due to technological advances and because capital is gradually replacing labor. These changed conditions have made credit vitally important."

The new FCC booklet not only outlines the provisions of the Federal Farm Credit Act but provides timely hints on the use of credit in today's farming operations.

It points out that credit can be used effectively to acquire productive land and livestock, labor-saving equipment, high-utility buildings and many other essential improvements. However, farmers are advised against using credit as a substitute for income and warned to avoid using it to cover losses or to refinance debts caused by unprofitable farming — unless the weaknesses are corrected.

The FCC says common misuses of credit are:

- Paying too much for land and buildings.
- Buying unproductive land and livestock.
- Purchasing unnecessary equipment.
- Constructing costly buildings that lack convenience and utility.
- Inadequate or unwise use of short and intermediate term credit in financing productive farming operations.

The FCC stresses that for credit to work profitably it must be supported by efficient operation and management.

Farmers considering the use of long-term mortgage credit are urged to plan carefully to ensure that they have selected the most profitable way to operate the farm in line with the credit available. Sound judgment with respect to probable production and market trends will play an important part in making these planning decisions. The Farm Credit Corporation has a staff of trained credit advisers ready to help farmers with their planning and credit problems.

Corporation lending in the current fiscal year continues to set a record pace according to FCC Chairman George Owen. Loans approved to September 30th numbered 5,783 and amounted to $71,120,500 — an increase of 26.5 per cent over the $56,236,300 approved for 4,515 farmers during the corresponding period in the previous fiscal year.

Farmers wishing the FCC's booklet "Credit for Profit" can obtain a copy from head office, Farm Credit Corporation, 150 Kent Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

Record Apple Harvest Seen

A record crop of 19,394,000 bushels of apples is forecast for this year, the previous high mark being 19.2 million bushels in 1946.

Provincial totals are: British Columbia, 6.58 million bushels; Ontario 4.93; Quebec 4.36; Nova Scotia 3.0 and New Brunswick 0.53. Last year's harvest was 19 million bushels.

Apple production in most European countries is reported to be heavier than last year but a somewhat smaller crop is in prospect in the United States.

The Canadian pear harvest is estimated at 1.5 million bushels, 90 per cent of last year's crop. Sweet cherries at 368,000 bushels, and apricots (B.C.) at 123,000 bushels, are down.

Other tree fruits show increases. Crop estimates are: Plums and prunes, 589,000 bushels; peaches, 2.4 million bushels; sour cherries (Ontario), 254,000 bushels.

HE STARTED IT

Coming into the boys' room the mother found the floor strewn with pants, shirts, shoes, socks and underwear. "Who didn't hang up his clothes when he went to bed?" she demanded.

"Adam," replied a small voice from under the covers.

The cold weather will bring extra driving hazards, says the Ontario Safety League. Expect trouble — avoid it when it shows up — be thankful if it doesn't.

CONSERVATION NEWS

20,000 HUNTERS TO INVADE OUR WOODS

During the next two weeks, which commenced November 4th, it is predicted that 20,000 hunters will invade forest lands throughout the Tweed District.

Five-hundred hunt camps on Crown lands will account for 5,000 hunters while twice that many private camps with men occupying both Crown and private lands will add another 10,000 hunters. Day hunters, persons hunting in small groups from home, will account for the remaining 5,000 to bring the total up to 20,000.

All the hunters may not be out at any one time. However, during the first week there will be at least 80% of these hunters in the field. The Tweed District forested lands, exclusive of water, is approximately 4,600 square miles and therefore this will mean that there will be one hunter for less than half a square mile of bush.

With this thought in mind, hunters should realize the need for caution. Be careful with firearms, be sure of your target and be considerate at all times.

Christian families are being enlisted in the distribution of the Scriptures among the non-Christians in Ceylon. The Christians purchase packets of Gospel portions in Sinhala, Tamil and English which they pass along to their neighbours.

As well as more effective Scripture distribution, the intention is to make evangelism the concern of the average church member. Evangelism in Ceylon, then, is not the sole task of the clergy, or professional church worker.

In two areas already reporting results, the scheme seems to be proving quite satisfactory. Teams of Scripture salesmen in these two locations are university students and members of local church youth groups.

The FCC stresses that for credit to work profitably it must be supported by efficient operation and management.

LEGION NOTES

Next Monday, November 11th is Remembrance Day. At 10:30 a.m. citizens of Stirling and district will gather at the local cenotaph to remember the fallen of Two World Wars. The service which will last a brief half hour symbolizes the first and foremost aim of the Legion... to remember.

We remember not just the fallen comrades, but we remember what they died for. In remembrance we find a better realization of our duty to our country, of the freedoms we enjoy and the many rights and privileges which are ours. None of us could put a dollar and cent valuation on our families and our homes. Yet, in two World Wars many men valued their loved ones and their homes enough to give their lives. Do we not then owe a lifetime debt to these men to work and strive to preserve all that they died for?

Remembrance Day is a time for all of us to take a fresh look at our lives and our motives. It is a time to look around us and realize that a great deal of what we have today is ours because there were men who gave all they had. It is a time for us to resolve that their sacrifice was not in vain and to rededicate our lives to the principles and ideals which were paid for in so many lives and so much pain and suffering.

The Legion, Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies and Cubs will fall in at the Community Hall at 10:15 a.m. Led by the Stirling-Rawdon Band, the parade will proceed to the Cenotaph for the memorial service which will start at 10:30 a.m. The service will be in charge of the Legion Padre, Rev. F. Downing who will be assisted by the local and district clergy.

Wreaths are to be placed by the next-of-kin of our fallen comrades and by other local and district organizations. Immediately following the Stirling Remembrance Service, the Legion will proceed to Rawdon Township Memorial at Harold where a brief memorial service will also be held. All citizens are invited to attend and take part in these services.

On Sunday, November 10th, the Legion will attend morning service at St. James the Minor Church at 9:00 a.m. All veterans are to fall in at Tanner's Service Station at 8:15 a.m. Cars will be provided for all veterans who are unable to march. On its return from this service, the Legion will place a wreath at the local Cenotaph.

Also, on Sunday, November 10th, the Legion will welcome the Silver Cross Mothers and their immediate families at a special reception to be held at the Legion Hall from 3 to 4 p.m. It is also expected that representatives of the various municipal bodies in this area will be in attendance, as well as some of the Legion officers from this area.

The annual Legion Remembrance Dinner will be held on Monday, November 11th at the Sterling Hotel commencing at 6:00 p.m. All branch members who have not yet purchased their ticket for this dinner are asked to do so at once. Please contact Comrades Ray Tanner or George Noble.

This Saturday is Poppy Day in Stirling. The proceeds of this day are held in trust by the Legion and can be used only for assistance to veterans, their dependents and families in case of emergency. This annual appeal has always met with a generous response by the people of this community. Your kind support is sincerely appreciated by the Legion.

100th Anniversary

(Continued from page one) sians were making tremendous strides in the construction of large five-storey apartment blocks. Electrical appliances are conspicuous by their absence and there are no garages.

School buildings are old, probably built in the 1880's and the Russians were apparently being trained in narrow specialized trades with a view to production. Every school displayed a large picture of Lenin. He fore-saw a tremendous retraining program for Russian workers if and when automation becomes greater.

Prices for many things are high by our standards, while on the other hand the cost of laundering was very reasonable.

Councillor Maurice Clancy voiced the thanks of Rawdon Council to the speaker and presented him with a gift as a memento of the occasion.

History of

Rawdon

Mrs. Percy Smith, of Spring Brook, a sister of a former Reeve and Warden, of the County, Geo. Thompson, presented a history of Rawdon Township and its municipal life during the past century. She stated her brother, the late Mr. Wesley Thompson, had started the Rawdon history and it was at his suggestion that the Township decided to mark the 100th anniversary of the hall.

The first settlement in what is now Rawdon Township was around 1820 near what is now known as Stirling, and by 1839 the population of the district had grown to about 1059. There were 129 land owners listed who paid an average of $2.50 in taxes.

Road work was done by statute labour and the work was in charge of pathmasters, of whom there were 103 in 1864. In 1850 there were 141 school teachers, with a male teacher who boarded himself getting $240 per year, but a lady teacher only $135 per year.

She said the century-old township hall had seen many uses, ranging all the way from council meetings, gatherings, to prayer meetings. At one time the Rawdon Agricultural Society held a fair at Harold and the township hall was used as an exhibition building.

Allen Fletcher Top Winner At Local High School Commencement

One-Act Play Presented By Students — Capacity Audiences Parents and Friends

A total close to $2,500 in scholarships and bursaries were presented to Stirling-Rawdon District High School students Friday night at the school's annual Commencement exercises.

Heading the list of winners was Allen Fletcher, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, a first-year student at Queen's University, Kingston.

Fletcher picked up a Grade XIII scholarship by the local School Board of $20.00; a Dominion-Provincial student-aid bursary of $500; an Atkinson Charitable Foundation University Bursary of $400; Hon. J. R. Cooke Scholarship of $50; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lawlor Memorial Scholarship $100, and John L. Good Trophy, by the Students' Council, $10.00.

He also delivered the Valedictory address to students and parents who filled the Stirling Theatre for the occasion.

Mount Pleasant United Church Observes 92nd Anniversary

Rev. T. E. Floyd Honey, B.A., S.T.M., D.D., Sec. Board World Missions, Gave Two Messages

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

Large bouquets of coloured chrysanthemums, a flowering rose and ferns, also a memorial 'mum in memory of Mrs. Ross Hoard, decorated Mount Pleasant Rawdon United Church on Sunday, November 10th for the observance of their 92nd anniversary.

Worshippers were in attendance from many far-away points and the church was filled to capacity for the morning service. The guests came from Toronto, Cooksville, Port Credit, Oshawa, Belleville, Trenton, Kingston, Campbellford, Marmora, Eldorado, Crookston, Spring Brook, Stirling, Holloway, Burnbrae, Eggleton, Marsh Hill, Frankford, West Huntingdon, Ivanhoe, Hoards' Carmel, Wellman's and Bethel and other points.

The pastor Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., conducted both services and introduced the special guest, who was well known in this locality where his relatives resided and many have watched his progress through the years. The pastor also spoke briefly re the new choir caps which were recently presented by family and friends in loving memory of Miss Mary Ellen David.

Guest Speaker

Rev. T. E. Floyd Honey, B.A., S.T.M.; D.D., Toronto, Secretary of the Board of World Mission of the United Church of Canada, gave two outstanding messages. In the morning he spoke on the theme "The Christian World Mission Today." He challenged his audience that every church group were involved in world mission. The Mount Pleasant congregation should be responsible for a share of this great work and not only for their own little centre at home. The speaker based his message on three words — Unity, Flexibility and Involvement.

Unity means to help to reconcile the various countries who are divided and today the unity of the Christian Church overseas is a matter of extreme emergency. Some progress is being made through the provision of Christian literature in eastern lands and through mass communication radio.

Secondly the World Mission must be flexible and thus all Christian Churches should co-operate with the overseas church, and lastly, the Church must become involved in the Church of the World and not remain on their own field entirely.

The speaker stressed the poverty in various countries and the assistance to the farmers in producing better crops. In closing he challenged the large audience to provide gifts, prayers, song and daughters to assist with God's work in the World Mission of His Church.

Evening Address

The evening message centred around the theme "Where Are You Going?" and this gave a sense of direction as found in several Books of the Bible, which clearly sets forth the call of God and what is expected of each individual. In this day of changing values it is very necessary for each person to chart their course according to God's will.

Special Music

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver presided at the console of the organ and chose as prelude "Scottgate," offertory "Thy Dying Love" and postlude "Praise the Lord." The full choir, under the direction of Mrs. Carleton Potts, rendered two anthems, "Praise to the Giver" by Gale, and "O Master of the Waking World" by Dykes. The hymns were "All Hail," "The Church's One Foundation" and "Spirit of the Living God."

In the evening Mrs. Weaver chose as a prelude "An Altar to My God," offertory "Softly Floating on the Air," and postlude "The Lord in Zion" by Reignett. The congregational hymns were "Day is Dying in the West," "Lead on O King Eternal" and "Jesus Calls Us." The choir rendered "I Love to Tell the Story" by Landon and the men's chorus of seven voices contributed "The Light of the World" by Bliss. Thus closed another year of service in His Church.

Valedictory Address By Allen Fletcher H.S. Commencement

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Good, members of the staff of the board, fellow graduates, parents, students, ladies and gentlemen:

We the graduating class, of which I am proud and honoured to be the representative, bring to a close, here tonight, another phase of our young lives. This ceremony marks the end of our High School education, and for some of us, the beginning of higher learning.

We recall with joy the many good times we have had since we entered Stirling High School five years ago, as we engaged in study, sport and other recreation. But henceforth we must turn our thoughts and endeavours to the future, realizing the grave responsibilities that will be ours in coming years. Our school has provided us with a background which is denied to many. Now we must look forward and use the knowledge we have gained and the faculty of thinking we have developed, to find our place in society.

Looking back we cannot help but see the great debt we owe to all those who have helped us obtain our diplomas. At this time I would like to express the sincere and heartfelt thanks of our class to our principal and teachers. In our junior years you managed to channel our youthful enthusiasm into the building of a firm foundation for our later studies. During those final months you pounded into our seemingly thick skulls the information we required to pass those dreadful departmentals. You gave us the encouragement to persevere and also the great amount of extra assistance with our studies that we needed so badly. You were our friends as well as our teachers and we shall be eternally indebted to you.

Also we will be obligated to our parents for the rest of our lives for the help and consideration they have given us during our school years. Not only did they provide the means for us to obtain our education but they inspired us to pursue our goal which often seemed far distant.

We should not neglect to thank our parents and neighbours for the fine facilities they have given us in order that we might be taught the required subjects. The ratepayers along with the efforts of their tireless representatives on the High School Board, have made possible the erecting of our wonderful school which has served us and will serve those who follow us.

To the present students of Stirling-Rawdon District High School and to those who will follow in coming years I would like to leave a challenge: that of struggling on with your studies even though at times it may seem that they cannot be mastered. The goal which you now seek is at tainable with hard work. And in our civilization an education is a prerequisite not only for getting a good job but for enjoying a full and meaningful life.

In this age of jet propulsion many young people are too impatient to travel the seemingly slow river of education to the great sea of life. For as a stream must have a source in the hills or mountains, so must our lives spring from the lofty ideals of home, Church and community. Again as the bank of a river allow it to flow on to the ocean, so our education guides us to the sea of larger and fuller life. Our sojourn in High School has led us out into a wider channel.

From one standpoint this is in fact a 'valedictory' address: that is a bidding farewell to Stirling High School. But from another it is more an 'au revoir' than a final goodbye for we expect to maintain an active interest and, as far as possible, a connection with our school though we be severed from it.

Our High School, which we are now leaving, has indeed led us toward the sea of life. But we have much farther to travel. The words of Sir Winston Churchill, spoken during the war, can well be applied to our education: "This is not the end; it is not even the beginning of the end. But it is perhaps the end of the beginning."

R.V.W.I. Card Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Albert Kinton are shown after their wedding in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, on October 26th. The bride was the former Donna Rose Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Ray, R.R. 6, Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kinton, Stirling, Ontario.

Kinton -- Ray Wedding Solemnized

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was the setting for an autumn wedding on October 26th, when Donna Rose Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Ray, R.R. 6, Belleville, became the bride of Ronald Albert Kinton, Stirling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kinton, of Stirling. Rev. A. L. Sutherland performed the ceremony with traditional wedding music by the church organist, Mr. Laurie Rowbotham. Yellow and rust bouquets of chrysanthemums were used to decorate the church.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was charmingly gowned in white peau de soie, floor length, with fitted bodice enhanced with scalloped neckline and adorned with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was gathered at the back of the waist with two white roses, forming a slight train. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was fashioned with a crown of tulle and seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and trailing ivy.

Miss Sheila Walsh, of Marysville, was maid of honour, and the bridesmaids were Miss Diane Kinton, Stirling, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Linda Ray, sister of the bride. They were attired in similar dresses of avocado green peau de soie with matching shoes, gloves and headresses. The maid of honour carried a cascade bouquet of yellow 'mums and the two bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow and bronze 'mums mingled with maiden hair fern.

The flower girl, Miss Sylvia Horwood, Belleville, wore a green peau de soie sash, round neckline, short sleeves, matching headress and gloves. She carried a basket of yellow sahsta daisies.

Mr. Allan Kinton, of Stirling, was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Richard Bedford, of Oshawa, and Mr. Leonard Horwood, 10 Meyers St., Belleville.

A reception was held at Club Canara, Belleville, where the bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake misted about the base with tulle and Sweetheart roses. White candles were arranged in silver candelabra.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a gold brocade sheath with gold and black accessories, and a corsage of red carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a sheath of beige brocade, green and brown accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

For a trip to Montreal and around Lake Ontario the bride chose a three-piece suit of chocolate brown with tangerine and brown accessories, and a corsage of tangerine roses.

Guests were present from Trenton, Maryville, Bolton, Napanee, Painswick, Stirling, Oakville, Woodbridge, Tweed, Foxboro, Crookston, Erinsville, Madoc, Harold, Spring Brook, Kettleby North Bay and Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinton are residing at 33A Burton St., Belleville.

Before her marriage the bride was honoured at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Theresa Smith, Belleville.

Students Present One-Act Play

A very receptive audience enjoyed the one-act play, "The Man in the Bowler Hat," at the annual High School Commencement Exercises on Friday night in the local Theatre. The cast of seven consisted of students of Grades 12 and 13 directed by Mr. Wendell Camm. The student actors surmounted the difficulty of presenting an English play containing terms more or less unknown to a Canadian audience. The applause was liberally given, and the actors were encouraged to give freely of themselves.

The setting of the play was a sitting room in a middle-class English home of the early twenties. Authentic props such as an early model gramophone and a painting of George V were used to create a suitable atmosphere. In this setting a middle-aged couple, Mary (Janet Murray) and John (Edgar Hay-Ellis, Jr.) were found conversing about their rather unexciting existence. Unnoticed by them, a strange man, dressed in a fur coat and bowler hat (Jim Haggerty), entered and took a seat at one side. Just as John and Mary were wishing that something exciting would happen to them, they heard the crack of a revolver and the Hero (David Gliddon), an attractive young man, entered breathing rather quickly. He gave John and Mary each a gun and instructed them to listen.

Just as the Hero was about to leave, the Heroine (Barbara Bradley) entered. Their prolonged embrace proved to be a matter of some concern to John. Finally the Heroine revealed that her father was hot upon the Hero's tracks in an effort to secure the Rajah's Ruby. After they left, John and Mary continued to listen as they had been instructed to do by the Hero. Shrieks were heard and the lights went out. In the midst of this confusion Mary tried to convince John that strange goings-on were taking place. When the lights came on again, the Hero, tied and gagged, was signalling for assistance.

The Chief Villain (Paul Leonard) entered along with the Bad Man (Firth Bateman) with the demand that the Hero should tell where the Rajah's Ruby was. After being tortured with a knitting needle, the Hero revealed that the Ruby was in a cloakroom of Waterloo Station in a hat box; the ticket for that hat box, however, was in a hat box at Paddington Station. By the time he was finished, the Hero had made the Chief Villain very confused about exactly where the ultimate hat box with the required ticket was to be located. On hearing finally that the Hero had lost the needed ticket, the Villain fainted, and the other actors reacted in varying degrees of excitement. Only the Man in the Bowler Hat was unmoved. He simply reminded the actors that they had performed very well but a second rehearsal would be needed the following morning.

The director and cast were assisted by Mrs. Gordon W. Bailey and Anne Loucks who were in charge of makeup, by Bob Bell who looked after the curtain and lights, and by all those in the community who lent properties. Patricia Mallory made a fitting introduction to the play. Among other things she reminded the audience that the author of the play, A. A. Milne, was well-known through his poems for children in the famous book, "When We Were Very Young."

St. Andrew's Club

Fuller Mission Circle visited St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Club, West Huntingdon, on Friday evening. A number of the Roslin Presbyterian congregation Young People's were also present.

Mrs. Russell Sills, President, presided and extended a warm welcome to the visitors.

The worship service included a Scripture lesson, 1st Chronicles 28: 1-8. Mrs. Wm. Donnan rendered a solo, "America." A reading, "Remembrance," was given by Mrs. R. Sills. "In Flanders Fields" was read by Margaret Sills. Prayer was offered by Mr. T. Dodds.

The President of the Fuller group, Mrs. Calvert, took charge of the programme. Mr. R. Manthorpe, minister of the Roslin Charge gave an interesting and inspiring talk entitled "Redemption and Reconciliation." A solo, "She Only Touched the Hem of His Garment" was contributed by Mrs. Roy DeMille, Crookston. A reading was given by Mrs. Chas. Irvine. Mr. T. Dodds closed with prayer.

Literature was given out and the girls were told what supplies they will need.

Wellman's UCW

Mrs. Burton White was hostess to the ladies of Wellman's United Church Women on Tuesday, November 5th. There were 17 adults and 6 children in attendance.

The President, Mrs. John Carlisle, gave the call to worship, after which the theme hymn was sung. Mrs. Howard Wallace read from the Bible, Genesis 3: 1-13. Mrs. Carlisle commented on the reading concentrating on Creation and stressing our part in this theme. The offering was gathered, followed by the hymn "We Give Thee But Thine Own." The Lord's Prayer was repeated.

The minutes were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Ken Tompkins. Correspondence was read, resulting in a nomination being made to the Belleville Presbyteral U.C.W. for President and a donation being sent to the Publications Committee of Toronto Bible College to have the name of the Church and pastor listed on the Church Calendar page. Rev. W. G. Fletcher commented on coming events of interest to the ladies.

The slate of officers for 1964, read by Mrs. Omar Dracup, was unanimously accepted.

Mrs. Craig Watson rendered a piano solo entitled "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mrs. W. G. Fletcher gave a reading, "It Isn't the Church, It's You."

The chapter from the study book on Hong Kong was given by Mrs. Jim Pollock who made her remarks more interesting with the use of illustrations.

Mrs. Pollock began with the geography of the country. The area is 398 square miles with only 62 square miles usable, the land being rugged and mountainous. There are 300 varieties of birds, no animals as there is no room for them because of the heavy population. The population is over 3 million, 99 per cent Chinese.

In 1871 the island of Hong Kong was given to the British. There are sections of wealth and of drastic poverty. It is the centre contact between Communist China and the non-Communist world. Hong Kong is ruled by a British Governor with a council of British and Chinese members.

There are many factories, the wages being low and the hours long. There are many difficulties with the water shortage. The main supply is from rain caught in reservoirs which at times has to be rationed.

The housing situation is grim, 4,000 persons per acre. There is no privacy and a lot of squatters keep coming into Hong Kong. The education was first through the Protestant and Catholic Missionaries. There are many schools, some private, which are very educational but very expensive. Primary schools are springing up all over but thousands never get to school. University education is very expensive. Several now take their university education in other countries. We have some of these in our country.

Health conditions are very bad. For T.B. patients 60,000 beds are needed but only 2,000 available. There are many criminals and drug addicts.

The politics is a quiet subject on account of the Communist and non-Communist situation.

The oldest faith here was Buddhism. There are over 300 Protestant congregations and some Catholic ones, consisting in all of only 9 per cent of the population. There has been a Student Christian Centre founded which is open to all. There has been $18,000 donated towards radios and such like from the Canadian United Churches. It is a known fact that the Christian Church must help them or the Communists will. Mrs. Pollock closed this very informative address with prayer.

Mrs. Carlisle thanked the hostess and all taking part in the proceedings of the meeting, then closed with prayer.

Mrs. White and her assistants served dainty refreshments while all enjoyed a social half hour.

Sayers -- Grills Wedding

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Carmel United Church on Saturday, November 2nd when Sharon Mae Grills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grills, Frankford R.R. 3, became the bride of Brian Harry Sayers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sayers, Scarboro, Ont. The Rev. P. J. Hommersen officiated before potted ferns and mixed flowers. Traditional wedding music was rendered on the piano by Mrs. Arthur Pyer, who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Donald Armstrong, of Frankford R.R. 3, as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported lace with full flowing tulle to the hemline, fashioned with fitted bodice, sabrina neckline and long sleeves. Her elbow-length veil flowed from a headpiece of may flowers and organza leaves. A single strand of pearls and matching earrings, the gift of the groom, completed her ensemble. She carried a white Bible and red rosebuds.

The maid of honour, Miss Carol Sine, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sandra Sayers, bridesmaid, sister of the groom, were similarly attired in red velvet dresses with white accessories and carried white and yellow 'mums. The flower girl, Miss Catherine Grills, cousin of the bride, wore red velvet which matched the bridesmaids and carried a bouquet of white and yellow 'mums.

Mr. Gary Sayers, brother of the groom, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Grills, brother of the bride and Mr. Robert Judd, uncle of the groom.

A reception was held following the ceremony in Carmel Jubilee Hall. The bride's mother received in a green double knit jersey with brown accessories and corsage of yellow 'mums. The groom's mother was unable to attend through illness.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls the bride chose a navy crepe two piece dress with pink accessories, a grey borg jacket and corsage of red rosebuds.

Guests were present from Toronto, Norwood, Stirling, Holloway, Carmel, Concession and Minto.

Stirling-Rawdon District H.S. Board Discuss Plans For Added Facilities

District Inspector MacLeod, Kingston, Was In Attendance — Exams Now On

The problem of providing adequate facilities in the future for occupational, shop and commercial instruction in the Stirling-Rawdon District High School was given a thorough airing at the monthly meeting of the School Board last night. Chairman Harry Morrow was supported by D. W. Rodger, A. R. Mallory, James Johnston and Dr. R. B. Murray.

In the face of increased attendance, supported by a survey of rural schools in the area and the large percentage of drop-outs, members of the local Board are unanimous in the view that every possible step should be taken to fit students not only for university but for accepting positions in the business world.

Mr. J. C. MacLeod, of Kingston, district Inspector of the Ontario Department of Education, was in attendance and took part in the lengthy discussion. He submitted three plans which the Board will consider before any decision is reached in the matter.

Mr. Harris, a member of the staff, expressed himself as being interested in giving instruction in the driver training course offered by the Ontario Department of Transport as an extra curricular activity adopted by the local School Board. Mr. W. M. Glenister, of the Department, will be invited to come and discuss the matter with Mr. Harris.

Correspondence was tabled from H. C. Martin, re insurance on the garden tractor; White & White, re purchase of land from A. McCrory, and from the County Clerk concerning the findings of the Board of Arbitration re the transfer of a portion of Sidney Township from the Bay of Quinte High School Area to the Stirling-Rawdon Area. The cost of the Board of Arbitration to the local Board was $114.04.

The November meeting of Eggleton United Church Women was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clayton Prest.

The Vice-President, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, presided over the programme which she had prepared on the theme "Peace" and opened with the poem "Bless This House" read by Mrs. Murney Kirkey.

During the worship service Mrs. Seaborn Prest read the Scripture Lesson. Mrs. Clancy gave the commentary and prayer was given by Mrs. William McMullen. A chorus, "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me" was sung. The offering was dedicated with prayer by Mr. Geo. Dyson. A reading "Peace" was given by Mrs. S. Danford.

A roll call was answered with a Scripture verse containing the word "Peace." Thirteen adults and one child were present.

A letter of thanks from Mr. Harlow for a plant was read; also an invitation to attend a special meeting in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley reported on visits and calls made and on cards sent out. Bills were presented and dealt with. Treasurer, Mrs. W. McMullen gave a report on funds in the treasury.

Several gifts for children at Curve Lake were handed in. Others wishing to contribute please leave parcels with Mrs. Harlow or Mrs. Fitchett.

The members were reminded to bring their Friendship Bags to the December meeting. Instead of the usual gift exchange at the December meeting the members decided to hand in a donation which will be sent to a worthy cause. The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Fitchett with the programme being prepared by Mrs. Forde Stapley and Mrs. Seaborn Prest.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. W. Harlow, Mrs. F. Stapley and Mrs. W. McMullen was appointed to bring in the slate of officers for 1964 at the December meeting.

Four readings followed, "The River of Peace," by Mrs. Fitchett; "Life," by Mrs. Frank Smith; "Love," by Mrs. Carl Bridges; and "Measure of the Church," by Mrs. Clancy.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley dealt with the chapter "The Life of Grace and Freedom" from "The Word and the Way" and led in a discussion period. Mrs. Clancy thanked the hostess for the use of her home and all who assisted on the programme. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Prest and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Report From Parliament Hill

(By Rod Webb, M.P., Hastings-Frontenac)

Years ago, Sir Wilfred Laurier predicted that the twentieth century would belong to Canada. In many respects his prophecy has been coming true before our eyes. The population grows. Social services are spreading and economic advantages are increasing. The St. Lawrence Seaway is bright with commercial promise. The genius of science has rolled back new frontiers to reveal Alberta's oil, Ungava's ore and Deep River's atomic energy. "Canada Unlimited" seems to be the name by which this country is known throughout the world.

Twenty-two Members had the opportunity to observe two other areas where the genius of science is rolling back new frontiers. Members of the Federal Government must understand problems pertaining to all areas of this great country.

Some years ago while prospecting for oil and gas resources in Saskatchewan, it was discovered that underlying very large areas of this province were tremendous deposits of potash. A predominantly rural area such as my constituency will readily understand the importance of this fertilizer ingredient, not only nationally but also internationally.

Some of this mineral is mined in the conventional way through a shaft. Two years ago in one of my radio addresses, I described the terrific hazards and cost of this type of operation where the cost of sinking the shaft was $40,000.00.

Our visit to Saskatchewan, Moose Jaw, Lake Centre constituency on the week-end was to observe at first hand the second method of mining this very important mineral.

Solution mining of potash ores is an important first for Canada's mining industry and a valuable addition to its mining know-how.

Much of the potassium mineral in Saskatchewan is located too deep to be mined in the conventional way through a shaft. Solution mining is able to recover this essential mineral from the deep deposits in the Province and makes it possible to establish a potash industry in areas where only a few short years ago it was impossible.

The technicalities of this process are too complicated for other than engineers to understand. However, the maze of equipment for conveying, storing and refining this product have a construction cost of approximately $45,000,000.

The expected output of this mine will fill 100 railway cars each day. The estimated revenue for the Canadian Pacific Railway servicing only one of the four potash developments in the province will be somewhere in the neighbourhood of $10,000,000 per year.

We who live in the Moira and Otonabee Conservation Areas are not unfamiliar with conservation measures. We are very grateful that so many dedicated Canadians had the foresight to promote measures for the conservation of our forests, our soil and our waters in the past.

The second highlight of our trip West was to visit the site of the South Saskatchewan Dam. Once again I was appalled at the thorough attention to detail of our modern engineers. Their ability to estimate costs and to project in detail the many benefits which make a development of this magnitude possible.

This great river which was a trade route for early explorers and fur traders and envisaged as a potential navigation route from Fort Garry to the foot of the Rockies, is in the process of being harnessed to provide power, irrigation, flood control, recreation and urban and rural water supply.

The largest of its kind ever to be built in Canada, the project is a joint undertaking between the Government of Canada and the Province of Saskatchewan. The total cost of the reservoir works is estimated at $35 million, and will be shared by the two Governments — 75% by the Federal and 25% by the Provincial.

At the time of our visit, 32 construction contracts had been awarded valued at approximately $55,000,000. To accomplish this work, a labour force of from 800 to 1200 men, depending on the seasonal requirements, was employed at the site throughout the year.

After completion of the dam, the backed up waters of the South Saskatchewan will form a reservoir with a shoreline of almost 500 miles.

This is Canada on the march when the development of the South Saskatchewan promises an assured supply of water to a Province already rich in agricultural and mineral resources, bringing with it the potential to stabilize agriculture, generate hydro power, and broaden the economic base of the Province and the nation.

Mrs. Ken Broadborth, Stirling, was pianist for the programme. At the end of the programme prizes and awards were given and candy was served to all.

General Meeting St. Paul's UCW

St. Paul's United Church Women met in the downstairs Sunday School room November 5th with 43 members present. After welcoming all, Mrs. D. Duffin opened the meeting with the theme song.

Mrs. V. Richardson had charge of the devotional opening with the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past." The Scripture was taken from St. John's Gospel 1: 10 and 3: 16.

Being so near Armistice Day a few minutes was spent in paying tribute to those men and women who paid for our freedom with their lives. It was emphasized that Remembrance is a good practice. The fact that human beings have been equipped with the faculty of memory proves that it is God's will we should have times of Remembrance to dedicate ourselves anew to living for the great principles for which men have died. Let us recall past mistakes and resolve not to repeat them.

Part two dealt with God's great love for the world. He knew his people and how difficult it is for them to live together in unison. He wanted peace. How his heart must ache today over the world with its tumult and strife, wars and greed and hatreds. We have bartered for such paughty things throughout the ages.

Mrs. R. Patterson led in a whole-hearted and inspiring prayer. Mrs. S. MacDonald's solo, "Great is Thy Faithfulness" added greatly to the devotional. Mrs. J. Hough and Mrs. W. Camm gathered the offering.

The Supply Secretary reported a great need for good used clothing for an overseas bale to be packed at the end of the month.

Mrs. K. Weaver, Presbyteral Vice-President, sent word that Holloway St. United Church, Belleville, is sponsoring a bus trip to Toronto to visit (1) the U.C. Book House; (2) the Supply Depot; and (3) the Fred Victor Mission. The date will be announced later. This is a great opportunity to learn more about the work the United Church is doing.

The next General Meeting will be December 3rd, followed by an executive meeting on December 5th.

It is hoped a goodly number of our members will be able to attend the World Mission Festival in Bridge St.

United Church, Belleville, Saturday evening.

Programme

Mrs. Charles Davidson opened the programme with a sing song.

The highlight of the meeting was a report given by two of our active young ladies, Mrs. Don Williams and Mrs. Elwood Bateman, who were privileged to attend the Montreal-Ottawa Conference at Ivy Lea. They brought back a glowing report of the fellowship worship in song and the inspirational group discussion.

Mrs. Williams said she felt it was difficult to put into words her impression. Mrs. Barnes, a lady who travels a great deal was guest speaker for her division. Her theme was "The Christian Woman and the World." She left with them the idea that the Church is really ourselves at work in the world. The way we live decides how we will build the future.

Mrs. Bateman attended the Bible study section. Mrs. Bryant Kirkland, wife of the minister of 5th Ave., New York City, addressed them. Her theme was "What the Bible Says to Us" and "How to be Useful as a Christian at Home or in Church." She stressed that reading whole chapters of the Bible at one time was not as good as a few verses and then think about them. We all have a purpose.

A committed Christian is a working Christian. There is something in a Christian's life that will rub off on those associated with him.

From this report I feel that these girls not only enjoyed themselves but have had a very rewarding experience and I hope two more will be able to attend a similar conference next year.

Mrs. E. Warren gave a reading, "City of Dreams," after which Mrs. Davidson closed with prayer.

Unit 5 served a delicious lunch. Mrs. W. Camm graciously thanked all taking part in the meeting and Unit 5 for the delectable lunch.

Hinds — Edwards Wedding Solemnized

A lovely wedding was solemnized in Cordova Mines Free Methodist Church on Saturday, November 2nd, when Clara Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards, of Cordova, became the bride of Glen Thomas Hinds, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hinds, of Harold.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. James before the altar decorated with foliations and a large bouquet of pansies. The guest pews were adorned with white bows.

Mrs. John J. Nixon was at the console of the organ and accompanied her husband, Mr. John J. Nixon, who sang "How Great Thou Art" and "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length dress of lace paneling over taffeta with a hoop crinoline. Her shoulder-length lace veil was caught in a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of American red roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Eleanor Edwards, as maid of honour; Mrs. Keith Twiddy, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, and Miss Lila Edwards, also a sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of turquoise blue brushed lace over taffeta with matching feathered headresses. They carried bouquets of white mums centered with red carnations.

Two nieces of the bride, Misses Dayle and Carmel Radcliffe, were flower girl and ring bearer, dressed in blue velvet dress and little white hats and gloves to match. They left amid showers of confetti for Brockville, Ottawa and Sudbury and points north. On their return they will reside at Harrold.

Guests were present from Sudbury, Norwood, Cobourg, Warsaw, Hoard's, Campbellford, Healey Falls, Minie, Monie, Stirling and Peterborough.

Before her marriage the bride was given a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. J. Yoeman, Cordova Mines.

2 tablespoons butter
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 cups sliced, unpeeled red apples

NOTE: The cheese topping may be omitted.

Mt. Pleasant*Rawdon UCW

Twenty-four members and four visitors attended the U.C.W. meeting at the Church Hall on Thursday afternoon. A special worship centre was in honour of Remembrance.

The President, Mrs. Donald Knight, gave the call to worship and the welcome. Roll call was answered with items re the United Nations. Miss Nancy Johnson sang "The Hymn of All Nations."

The various reports were read and correspondence included thank you notes and invitations; also a letter re periodicals from Mrs. Maurice Clancy. A nominating committee was appointed and plans made to order the study book on India.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe presided over the programme which was centred on the theme "Peace." Hymns were based on this topic and Mrs. Stanley Williams read the Bible lesson and meditations.

Mrs. Jack Cooper, of Sidney, was the guest speaker and she gave the Bible study on "Peace." Mrs. Herb Smith voiced thanks and Mrs. Norman McConnell made the presentation of a small gift.

Mrs. Robert H. Hoard contributed a vocal solo. The articles on India which were taken to the World Mission Festival were displayed. The pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, closed the meeting after which the lunch conveners Mrs. Irvin Potts and Mrs. Ira David served fruit bread, cheese and tea.

Mt. Pleasant*Messengers

Thirty-two children and three adults were in attendance at the Messenger meeting at the Church Hall on Sunday morning. Donna Knight played quiet music.

In the business period plans were made to have a Christmas party at the Hall on Saturday evening, November 30th for the Messengers and their mothers.

The junior study book was completed by Mrs. Frank Spencer and the primary book by Mrs. Raymond McConnell. Carolyn Merrick read "A Friend In Need." Jane Spencer gave the call to worship and Lorraine Jeffs read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Clarence Scott read the meditation and Jean Jeffs gave the message.

Keith McConnell read an article outlining how the money is used for Missions. The offering was gathered by Fred Jeffs and David Jeffs and dedicated by Brenda Campbell.

The programme consisted of a piano solo by Jeannette Hoard; readings, by Bonnie Campbell and Frank Hubble. Kenneth Couch contributed several accordion solos and Bonnie Williams closed the meeting.

Mrs. A. Wannamaker Hostess To W.I.

Mrs. Arnold Wannamaker was hostess to the Stirling Women's Institute on Wednesday afternoon with the President, Mrs. Frank Smith, welcoming everyone.

Two minutes' silence was observed for Remembrance Day, followed by the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. Elizabeth Foster presented a well compiled topic on "Citizenship," stating this begins in the home. Thereafter these principles extend to our schools, churches and societies in general and only through these channels of understanding each other's ways and bearing with each other's faults, can international good will be established in our world today.

The roll call, "How to Become a Good Citizen" was answered by 10 members and 2 visitors. A get well cheery message was signed by the members and sent to a member, Mrs. E. Gould, who is progressing favourably in Belleville Hospital.

The quilt committee, Mrs. Ayhart, Mrs. Dave Luery and Mrs. Frank Smith, will purchase their requirements for quilt finishing. They will also order five wool blankets from woolen pieces donated. A money donation was thankfully received from Mrs. Lewis Rodgers to further this work.

The Public Relations Officer wishes to announce that splendid donations of good used clothing are coming in. Some orders are yet to be picked up. The bale will be shipped around the 10th of December. Although warm weather still prevails this can't be expected much longer and warmer clothing will be needed by everyone.

Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Luella Bronson were appointed to contact the Community Hall Board concerning furnishings donated by this Institute.

Two local Institutes are invited to attend the December meeting of this Institute with Mrs. W. C. West kindly offering her home for this occasion.

A report of the Area Convention held at Club Canara, Belleville, was given by the President with the theme being "The world is at our doorstep." A visit to the O.S.D. proved most interesting with three bus loads and several carloads attending.

Mrs. L. Bronson was chairlady for the programme. Readings were given by Mrs. B. Reid, "If Jesus Came to Your House;" Mrs. D. Luery, "Boys," and Mrs. W. C. West, "Keep the Torch of Remembrance Alight by Wearing a Poppy." In this way we are reminded more keenly of our indebtedness to those who didn't return. Mrs. Smith read "The Executive."

An added feature was a standard pastry recipe given by Mrs. D. Luery. Uses for vinegar were also given. Closing this profitable meeting was the singing of "The Queen."

All gathered around the large dining room table which was covered with a lace cloth and centred with driftwood filled with pink roses and a delicious lunch was enjoyed served by the hostess and Mrs. Luella Bronson on Mrs. E. Gould's behalf. A gracious thank you was expressed by Mrs. E. Foster to the hostess, programme, and lunch committees.

MARVELLOUS MUSKOCA

One of the most beautiful melodies I have ever heard is a heart-tugging Indian folk song of the Muskoka Lakes. The title of the tune is "Land of the Sky Blue Waters." Though I have yet to meet and love a pretty Indian maiden as the song suggests, I have, however, met and been smitten by the many marvels of Muskoka.

Muskoka is many things to many people, and to some it is all things and more. Muskoka is unspoiled nature unmatched for sheer scenic splendor. Muskoka is historic ground, stopping-off place of early explorers. Muskoka has planted the seed of greatness into the hearts of some of Canada's finest painters, poets and authors. Muskoka has given its happy residents, and countless visitors, pine-clad hills and cool refreshing nights.

Muskoka is just as interesting in, say, January, as it is in June. In wintertime this pine-clad, lakeland paradise greets the return of numerous summer friends, this time with skis and snow shoes, as boats and motors wait in storage until winter's rush subsides. Whatever the date on the calendar, Muskoka in its changes of mood and colour plays at the heart of anyone who has ever climbed its hills, roamed its trails, canoed its lakes and rivers, and skied its slopes.

It's been the writer's good fortune to have recently enjoyed an annual fall pilgrimage to the Muskoka Lakes district. Making this particular trip is something I look forward to each year. The pleasure of the Muskoka's never diminish. I plan to go back time and time again. If you have need of the refreshing, relaxing, yes healing qualities of nature, they are to be found in abundance in Muskoka. Discover for yourself one of Ontario's most delightful regions. Discover marvellous Muskoka.

DEER REPORTS

Hunters at Bracebridge and at Huntsville have done well during the recent deer hunt. The writer on his trip up that way spotted numerous successful hunters coming out of the bush. Many deer fell on the opening day this year, which appears to be the case in other areas of the province. The writer's next-door neighbour got himself a big buck of the almost 200 pound variety. I don't think he will mind my mentioning it, so I'll tell you that Bob Fox hopes to enter his kill in one of the Big Buck Contests. Can't say I blame him, I'd do the same if I were in his shoes.

FLASH FROM

ANGUS GAVIN

I have just received a flash report from Angus Gavin of Ducks Unlimited that says cold weather and snow is moving into the prairie provinces from the north. Birds have begun moving out in good numbers from both Saskatchewan and Manitoba, but are still hiding in Alberta.

AND STILL

THEY BOAT 'EM

All I can say is that Campbellford fishermen must surely be among the hardest. Despite the date or weather they still bring in the big ones, even though a journey outside the Lindsay Lands and Forests District is necessary to do it.

Take the case of Roy Southworth and Jack Stocker. They went fishing near the old Tommyhawk mine on Tongamong lake recently, landing a dandy Walleye and one just legal size muskie. They were watched all the while from shore by a friendly red fox. Likely the keen-sighted fellow was a deputy game warden in disguise.

And Robert Mountney, with Wayne Post had a startling fishing experience at Twin Sister Lakes north of Marmora. A big fish followed Mountney's plug for over an hour while the two men trolled. When it did take the lure the fish settled on the bottom and acted for all the world like a permanently wedged stump. He finally was forced off the bottom and played close to the boat by Mountney, when the line went slack. Both anglers thought the fish had been lost but a turn or two on the reel proved that there was still plenty of weight on the ten pound test line. Lo and behold when boated and examined the 37" muskie had a series of fishing line marks around the body that told of the weird way in which it had been caught. Obviously the fish had thrown the plug and in the attempt had wrapped considerable line about its body near the tail. The fish also had imbedded one hook of the plug (a pickeminnow) in its tail.

It was Mr. Mountney's first muskie catch in a long lifetime of fishing. I'd say he was a mighty lucky fellow. Wouldn't you?

Warkworth Plans For Waterworks

Warkworth Village is taking steps to provide a water supply for residents. According to the Warkworth Journal tests are being made on various properties and approval of the Water Resources Commission is the next step. It is expected that installation of watermains will commence next Spring. —Campbellford Herald

I.O.O.F. Installations

Mr. Jack Atkinson, District Deputy Grand Master of District No. 45, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, has completed installing the officers in the following lodges: Thomasburg, Tweed, Stirling, Campbellford, Madoc and Spring Brook.

Mr. Atkinson's installing team were all Past Grands, namely, Malcolm Mason, Spring Brook, D.D.G. Warden; C. I. Ross, D.D.G. Past Grand; Frank Walker, D.D.G. Recording Secretary; George Wood, D.D.G. Financial Secretary; Howard Martin, D.D.G. Treasurer; Carl Fitzgerald, D.D.G. Marshall; Perry Brownson, D.D.G. Chaplain; Calvin Morrison, D.D.G. Herald, and Durand Adams, D.D.G. Inside Guard.

The music was furnished by Cecil Hagerman, P.G., and Wm. Hawthorne Sr., P.G., and Thos. Brownson.

D.D.G.M. Atkinson and his staff delivered their charges in a very able manner and received many congratulations wherever they appeared.

Mr. Atkinson informed each Lodge he visited that District No. 45 would be holding a banquet to Earl Fox, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, along with other Grand Lodge officers on December 5th in the spacious cafeteria of the new Technical School in Madoc.

Oddfellows and Rebekahs are privileged to bring their wives, husbands, sweethearts and boyfriends.

Members are advised to procure their tickets in advance as this banquet, no doubt, will be a sell-out.

Rev. Robt. Donnan Attends Conference

"The Holy Spirit in the Contemporary Church" furnished the theme of the 16th annual convention of the Pentecostal Fellowship of North America, according to the Rev. Robt. Donnan, pastor of Good Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle, Stirling, who attended the three day sessions in Montreal, Quebec, October 29th to 31st.

Delegates from most areas of the continent assembled in the world's second largest French-speaking city, using the facilities of the Laurentian Hotel and crowding the 1,600 seat Evangel Pentecostal Church, pastored by the Rev. Robert M. Argue. Almost twenty Pentecostal denominations and many independent congregations with a combined constituency of close to two million members, plus many local P.F.N.A. chapters, were represented by pastors, evangelists, missionaries, educators, denominational executives, editors and laymen.

Speakers from eight of the member denominations discussed the convention theme, with emphasis on the comfort of the Holy Spirit by PFNA chairman James Cross, Florida Overseer of the Church of God, the principal work of the Holy Spirit in glorifying Jesus Christ presented by Dr. Howard P. Courtney, Foursquare General Supervisor from Los Angeles, the Pentecostal movement's responsibility to the present day Pentecostal revival discussed by Thomas Zimmerman of Springfield, Missouri, General Superintendent of the Assemblies of God, and "The Holy Spirit in the Workship of the Church" by Tom Johnstone, General Superintendent of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada.

Outstanding instrumental and vocal music was presented throughout the conclaves by choirs, orchestras and guest musicians.

Business transacted included reports from standing committees and commissions promoting Pentecostal co-operation, election of new officers, and selection of Springfield, Missouri as site of the 1964 conventions. Delegates departed from Montreal voicing sincere appreciation to the local committee headed by Pastor Argue for the fine hospitality afforded throughout the conclave.

The meeting was opened by the President, Mrs. Albert Carson. Correspondence included a letter from the Canadian Mental Health Association asking for gifts for the Ontario Hospital at Cobourg. It was decided to give a donation. A thank you note was also read from Mrs. Abrams. Two minutes' silence were observed for the late Mrs. Barlow, a former member. Mrs. Albert Carson gave a two minute talk on the handbook.

The convener, Mrs. Floyd MacInnes, opened the programme with a poem. Misses Bonnie and Judy MacInnes favoured with duets. Mrs. Berson Mitts read "Beatitude for a Housewife."

The guest speaker, Mr. Gerald Irvine, Reeve of Sidney Township, gave a most interesting and informative talk on the duties of the Council and described the proper procedure for Council meetings. ### The Good Driver

A desire for recognition is one of the basic human needs. The young and the immature (who may be not-so-young), often seek the recognition they crave by making themselves conspicuous. This is particularly true on the streets and highways, according to the Ontario Safety League.

Probably the best short definition of good driving is: "A good driver is INCONSPICUOUS at all times." That's worth remembering — it's a sure way to recognize consistent good driving. And if it isn't consistent, it isn't good.

Apply that definition and you will spot bad driving of every type: from racing at 90 m.p.h. with a blaring horn, to cluttering up windows with dice and baby-shoes.

Following too closely, cutting-in, lane straddling, passing on curves are all conspicuous — and all bad driving.

Rev. Stewart

gave a talk on the Ontario Churchman. The meeting was closed with prayer.

The programme was in charge of Mrs. H. Jones and Mrs. J. Eggett. Some readings were given and a contest conducted by Mrs. Eggett.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Winnipeg singers Jose Poneira and Maxine Ware put their heads together as they prepare a number for their 15-minute program of popular music, "A Song For You," presented each Sunday on CBC-TV. Televised direct from Winnipeg, the program has an intimate club style atmosphere. Jose Poneira's own trio provides the musical accompaniment.

A driver is conspicuous when his name is called out in police court; when he has to admit to friends that his licence has been suspended; and he is very, very conspicuous when a crowd gathers to see him helped out of an automobile wreck.

Everything the man-at-the-wheel does that attracts undue attention is bad driving. "A good driver is inconspicuous at all times," says the Ontario Safety League.

Legion Notes

Tickets on the Legion Christmas draw have been available for some time. While no report on sales is presently available, we urge all members to make sure that they get to work on selling their allotment. Any members who have not yet picked up their tickets are asked to contact Branch Secretary, Bert Bastedo at once. There will be five prizes totaling a value of over $100.00. The draw will be made on Friday, December 20th.

As the Christmas season approaches, we suggest that relatives of veterans would do well to consider giving their veteran friend membership in the Legion as a Christmas gift. The Branch can arrange for an official receipt and appropriate Christmas card. Dues are $6.00 per year. We feel sure that many veterans would appreciate such a gift from someone in their family. ### Stirling Municipal Offices Filled By Acclamation at Nominations

Small Crowd Demonstrates Apathy of Ratepayers — Reeve and Councillor Quiet

With less than forty people, including municipal officials, in attendance, nominations were held in the Community Hall on Monday night. Nominations entered for the various offices were as follows:

Reeve — G. C. Mouck, the present Incumbent, and B. Jones, Councillor.

For Council — B. Jones, G. B. Noble, R. Anderson, James Chambers, R. L. Hulin and Bruce Glendinning.

For Public School Board — Mrs. R. Luery, R. D. Cooke and Allan Munro.

Public Utilities Commission — R. L. Hatton

Minute's Silence For Late President

At the outset of the public meeting, which followed, a minute's silence was observed in memory of the late John Fitzgerald Kennedy, former President of the United States.

Reeve Mouck

Reeve Mouck, in his remarks, gave a summary of the year's work including that of County Council. Referring to the operation of the County Home, the Reeve stated there were 152 inmates, fifty coming from Belleville, and per diem rate was the lowest of any such home in the province.

There has been a demand from some quarters for the establishment of a County Health Unit, stated Reeve Mouck. This would cost approximately $86,000 and so far no action towards its establishment had been taken.

The appointment of a County Safety Inspector was imminent according to the Reeve. The possibility of the establishment of a Provincial Trade School in the Quinte Area, halfway between Toronto and Ottawa, was also in the talk stage. The relief situation in the Village was good.

In closing Reeve Mouck stated he had enjoyed the municipal work but owing to other obligations he was retiring.

Councillors Speak

Councillor Jones announced he was accepting the nomination for the office of Reeve, and the cleaning and decoration of the interior of the Community Hall would be done under the Winter Works Programme.

Councillor Anderson stated the streets of the Village were never in better shape. He would stand as Councillor in the event of a contest.

Councillor G. B. Noble declined his nomination after a brief report on police and Fire Department matters.

Councillor J. Chambers reported on the Cemetery; and nominees R. L. Hulin and B. Glendinning spoke briefly.

Public Utilities Commission

Robert L. Hatton, Chairman of the local Public Utilities Commission, and again nominated as a member of the Committee, outlined the changes in the system made recently to increase the capacity load at a cost of some $17,000.

Referring to the water system, he stated there had been several new connections and a new 6" main had been installed on the Frankford Road. The sewerage system was working well, concluded Mr. Hatton, who announced his willingness to continue in office.

Public School Trustees

Mrs. Robert Luery, chairlady of the local Public School Board, gave a comprehensive report on school matters. Owing to an increased enrollment, it had been found necessary to make two additional classrooms in the school auditorium and engage two additional teachers. From a survey made recently it was apparent that added space would be required in the near future, stated Mrs. Luery. Accordingly the property committee had been given authority to purchase additional property preparatory to any building project, concluded Mrs. Luery.

Allan Munro also spoke briefly expressing his willingness to serve another term.

Dr. Martin Lee To Be Associated With Dr. J. Jagaciak

Dr. Martin Lee, a graduate of Manchester University, England, has arrived in town and will be associated with Dr. J. Jagaciak in his dental practice. Dr. Lee has practised in England and has recently passed the qualifying examinations of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario.

David Bell, who has been a member of the staff of the local Branch of the Bank of Montreal for the past year and a half, has been transferred to the Eganville Branch and left yesterday to assume his new duties. One of the Village's more popular boys, David has been prominent in minor sports. He was a member of local hockey teams and a star first baseman in softball. A host of friends join in wishing him well in his new sphere of labour.

Wind Storm Does Damage

A windstorm in this area Saturday morning toppled television aerials and trees and blew out several windows. A display window and a smaller window in the door of Stirling Motors Limited were blown in as was a large window in the front of the new chapel at the local cemetery.

A tree on Wright Street fell across the hydro wires cutting off the power in a section of the Village from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Many branches were blown from trees in various parts of the Village while a number of TV aerials were damaged.

Everyone enjoyed a lovely lunch and social time. Mrs. Ernest Carr moved a vote of thanks to the hostess, programme and lunch convenand more that there are things he can do about it. In the western world, he's learned that free people are only as safe as their will and their skill in defending themselves. In the workaday world, he's been learning that often we are only as safe as our ability to respond to risk, that in any life situation — in the nursery, on the highway, at the lathe — it is vital to know and to teach the ingredients of disaster. Yet there is still a long way to go.

Parents, for instance, are most to blame for accident tolls. Too many believe the time to teach their 16-year-old to think and act safely is when he aspires to become driver of the family car. We must force-feed safety into his mind. It is the responsibility of the parents to teach their pre-school offspring the habits of safe living. They are, however, so busy saying "No!" to the growing child to curb his mischief that, when it comes to positive safety teaching by precept and example, they simply cannot be bothered. They decide to leave it to the teacher.

Yet a teacher not adequately trained in safety instruction shies away from the subject. So the child is left to learn by trial and error. This may be an exaggerated statement but it possesses more than a grain of truth.

Safety is a mode of life. It is an evidence of positive preparation for living. It requires not a backing away from new experience but an efficient participation in whatever situations society provides. In industry and in living, safety is prepared efficiency, and inefficiency is disaster.

146th Annual Statement Bank of Montreal

New high levels in practically every phase of its operations here, throughout Canada and in six countries abroad are reported by the Bank of Montreal in its 146th annual statement. The figures were provided by Leslie Rawlings, manager of the Stirling branch.

Commenting on the statement for the year ended October 31st, he said B of M assets rose by more than $260 million to a record $4,275 million. At the same time, loans of all kinds, to individuals, businesses and municipalities, totalled $2,419 million.

Total deposits at $3,961 million, included Canadians' personal savings of some $1,937 million, which showed an increase of $108 million in the year.

Record Earnings

Earnings of more than 940 offices at home and abroad, also reached a new peak at $16,747,028, the manager reported. The figure is $733,516 more than in 1962. Provision for taxes is $18,204,530.

The bank's more than 22,500 shareholders are receiving dividends of $2.15 per share, or a total of $13,061,250.

The manager said that "quick" assets amounted to $1,966 million, representing 48.4 per cent of the bank's liabilities to the public, against 47.8 per cent last year. This reflects the bank's traditionally strong liquid position, he added.

The valuation of bank premises is shown at $69,091,403, compared with $65,378,133 in 1962, an indication of the bank's continuing programme of branch modernization and extension in this province and elsewhere.

Trees indeed constitute Canada's most valuable annual harvest.

Mr. C. Roberts capably filled the role as chairman, expressing congratulations and best wishes to the bride and groom. Mrs. Doug Faires, sister of the bride, led in community singing. ### THE BIBLE TODAY

Four entirely satisfied customers, as the result of the failure of the car to perform properly, is a story that comes from Nairobi.

The Bible Society's van, driven by John Mpayei, had passed many groups of travellers on foot during its long cross-country journey. One group had had to jump out of the way, without warning that the van was approaching. Something had happened to the wiring and the horn had refused to operate.

John stopped along the road to make repairs. He didn't want that to happen again! As he was replacing the tools, the group of men most recently passed came up and spelled out the name on the side of his van. "B I B L E S O C I E T Y," they said.

"Have you got a Bible in Bangala?" asked one of the weary travellers. John knew that Bangala was a language spoken in Congo far away from the world he was now stranded in. But he knew too that he had some copies in the stock of Scriptures in his van. So he said "yes."

The spokesman turned a radiant face upon his companions. " Didn't I say when the van passed, how much I wished it would stop and sell me a Bible!"

John got out all his supply of Bangala Bibles. There were exactly four, one for each traveller. He took a photograph of their smiling faces, reading their Bibles by the dusty roadside. Here indeed were four entirely satisfied customers.

Be Mailed Soon

If you have a driver's licence, your name will soon be spelled out on a foot-long card by a high-speed printing machine in Toronto.

This card will be your personal application form for your next licence, and it will be the first step in Ontario's new system of three-year drivers' licences.

Sometime between now and the end of January, you will get the card in the mail. You can obtain your new driver's licence by filling out the application, enclosing your money and either taking it to your local issuing office or mailing it to the Ontario Department of Transport, Toronto.

When will you get your application form?

How long will your new licence be valid?

How much will you have to pay? All these things depend on your birth-date. Transport Minister Irwin Haskett outlined the procedure in a preview of how the new system will work.

If your birthday is in January, you can expect to receive your form very soon. If it is in June, you'll get your form about New Year's; if it is in the final months of the year, you'll get your form later in January. The application forms are being mailed in the chronological order of the driver's birthdays.

Your licence will be valid for more than one year. The expiry date will be printed on it. If your birthday is between the 1st and 19th, the expiry date will be on your birthday in 1965. If your birthday is from the 20th of the month onward, the expiry date will be on your birthday in 1966.

And how much will it cost?

"The annual licence fee remains the same, at $2 per year," Mr. Haskett said. "The amount will be calculated according to the length of time each licence is valid."

For example: If your birth-date is June 12th, your licence will be valid for about a year and a half — all of 1964 and up until June 12th, 1965 — and your fee will be $3.00. If your birth-date is November 22nd, your licence will be valid for all of 1964 and 1965 and up until November 22nd, 1966 — and your fee will be $5.80.

Why aren't the licences being sent out all at once? Simply because there are two and a half million of them.

Even with machines printing and mailing the cards at the rate of nearly one every second, and operating 24 hours a day, it will take two full months to get them out.

If the cards for every driver could be laid end to end, they would form a continuous strip for 473 miles — from Toronto to well beyond Sault Ste. Marie.

To get ready for the simple opera-

At the same time they have been looking after such details as changes in address. And with so many drivers involved, this is no small chore — change-of-address forms have been re-

CANADA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

CHICKEN BROILERS

Chicken meat production has more than doubled since 1945 and this increase can be largely attributed to the tremendous expansion of the chicken broiler industry. Consumers are eating more chicken now too as shown by a 50% increase in figures for per capita consumption over this same period.

It is no wonder, then, that almost every week we see chicken broilers advertised in the stores and we often find that they are the best buys in meat. Chicken broilers come to market under 5 to 10 weeks of age and they weigh up to 4 pounds. You may buy a whole bird and split it yourself — just use a pair of kitchen shears, split it down the backbone and then disjoint it. Chicken pieces, however, are a more convenient buy and there is the added advantage that you can buy just enough white or dark meat to please everyone. Half birds or chicken pieces may be broiled, fried or barbecued.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture have recently been doing many cooking tests on their broiler chickens and fryers and make the following recommendations for cooking them:

To Broil - Bone

(chicken halves and quarters)

A combination of broiling followed by baking gives a more tender, juicy bird rather than the usual broiling which makes the meat dry.

To broil-bake the chicken, preheat the broiler compartment 5 minutes (following manufacturer's directions).

Brush chicken with butter or cooking oil. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Place skin side down in a greased pan without a rack so that top of chicken is 6 to 8 inches from heating unit. Broil until chicken browns, about 10 minutes. Turn skin side up, baste with melted butter or cooking oil, and broil until skin browns, about 5 minutes. Then you may pour your favourite barbecue sauce over the chicken and bake in a moderately slow oven 325 deg. F. until chicken is tender. Quarter chicken should take about 30 minutes to bake; half chicken about 40 minutes.

To Pan fry

(chicken quarters or pieces)

Add chicken, a few pieces at a time, to flour mixture in a paper bag. For each pound chicken mix 4 cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika and a dash of pepper. Shake bag to coat pieces evenly.

Heat 3 inch layer of oil or melted cooking fat in a heavy frying pan until a drop of water just sizzles in it. Beginning with the meatier pieces, cook chicken, turning once or twice, until lightly browned, about 15 minutes. Reduce heat, cover pan tightly and cook slowly 15 to 20 minutes. Uncover pan; increase heat and cook, skin side up, until chicken is tender and skin is crisp, about 10 minutes. Total cooking time is 40 to 45 minutes.

To Oven Fry

(especially convenient when frying more than one chicken.)

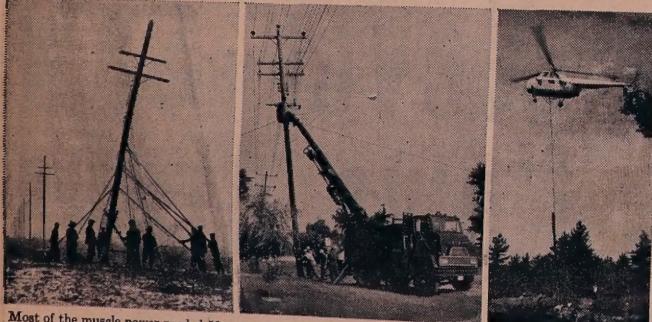

Coat chicken pieces with seasoned flour and lightly brown in heated fat the same as for panfried chicken. Arrange pieces of chicken, skin side up, in a single layer in a shallow baking pan. For each pound of chicken, spoon a mixture of 1 tablespoon of melted butter and 1 tablespoon of broth OR milk over the chicken. Cook in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.), turning once or twice to crisp evenly, until chicken is tender — 35 to 45 minutes. Total cooking time is 45 to 60 minutes.

To Oven-Barbecue

(chicken halves and quarters)

Preheat broiler. Brush chicken halves or quarters with butter or cooking oil, sprinkle with salt and pepper and place skin side down in a shallow pan without a rack so that top of chicken is 6 to 8 inches from heating unit. Broil until chicken browns, about 10 minutes. Turn skin side up, brush with melted butter or cooking oil and broil until skin browns, about 5 minutes. Then you may pour your favourite barbecue sauce over the chicken and bake in a moderately slow oven 325 deg. F. until chicken is tender. Quarter chicken should take about 30 minutes to bake; half chicken about 40 minutes.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

ON BEING A CANADIAN

I have listened to many wordsmiths on the subject of being a Canadian. Last month, I attended the Symposium at Winnipeg, held under the auspices of the Canadian Centenary Council, which discussed "Awareness of Canada." While I disagreed with a number of things that were said, I believe the meeting was a useful one, because it made us all do some hard thinking about our country.

The difficulty with Symposia is that they attract men and women who love words, and when the talk begins to roll there is a tendency to forget the real things, and even to miss out on the spirit that pervades the land. Intellectuals, strangely enough, appear to concentrate entirely on problems and are sublimely unaware, when the speeches end, that they've ground their mental gears on fluff and failed to mention the big, important things at all.

How can one be truly aware of Canada without recognizing the job our industries did in war time, and are doing today, in one of the toughest competitive markets in history? Yet at the Symposium, industry was rarely mentioned. Canadian awareness is mighty skimpy if it does not include an understanding of the fabulous job Canadian farmers have been doing, yet agriculture was hardly mentioned. Railroads — you would have known they existed, in spite of the fact that they are in the throes of a mighty struggle under management more bold and imaginative than ever before. These job-makers on whom so much of our culture depends must have been somewhere off in the wings, like Broadway angels, but the wordsmiths were oblivious to them.

I would like to see another Symposium, conducted with the same skill, but featuring on the panels some of the men and women of Canada who are the doers, and on whom our destiny depends. A Western rancher, a Nova Scotia apple farmer, a railroad president, a banker, an industrialist and storekeeper. They may not be quite as articulate as the men who spoke at Winnipeg, but there'd be excitement inherent in the things they would talk about.

The Canadian Centenary Council conducted its Symposium with commendable skill. But its panelists were disappointing. Let's have another one, equally well organized, but with a set of panelists drawn from those who really make the news and set the pace in Canada.

Most Ontario Motorists To Pay Higher License Fee

A simplified scale of fees for the 1964 licence plates of Ontario passenger vehicles which will streamline issuing procedures has been announced by Transport Minister Irwin Haskett.

"The new scale ensures greater fairness for motorists because it takes into full account the significant changes in engine design that have been made in recent years," Mr. Haskett said.

Mr. Haskett also announced that the fees for station wagons which formerly paid commercial rates will be the same as for passenger cars.

The adjusted scale of fees is $15. for passenger cars with 4 cylinders or less; $20 for those with six cylinders; and $25 for those with eight or more cylinders.

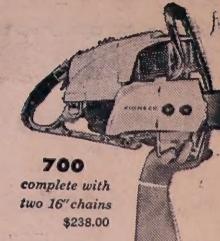

Passenger car and station wagon licence plates for 1964, at the adjusted fees, will go on sale throughout the province on December 2nd.

"The new scale, besides being more equitable and in step with engineering progress, has the further advantage of being easier to understand than the old system," Mr. Haskett remarked.

The previous schedule of fees was determined by a horsepower rating based on a formula that involved the number of cylinders and the diameter of the cylinder bore. In recent years this formula has required the owners of some models to pay higher registration fees than the owners of comparable models, since new engine designs could affect the formula on which the fees were based. The adjusted scale of fees eliminates this unfairness.

Carlisle -- McMullen Wedding Solemnized

Tall white standards of white chrysanthemums with a background of ferns formed the setting for a lovely autumn wedding at high noon on Saturday, October 26th, 1963, in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling. The guest pews were designated with white satin streamers and bows.

The Rev. P. J. Hommersen, B.A., B.D., minister of the church officiated and solemnized the double ring wedding ceremony of Shirley Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. McMullen and Ralph Wayne Carlisle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle, all of Stirling R.R. 3, Ont.

Mrs. Harry Brown, church organist, provided traditional wedding music and also accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Grant Richardson who sang "Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony; "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the reception.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a "Minetta" designed floor-length bridal gown of ivory white "pig skin" peau de soie with taffeta. The dress was worn over many crinolines. The skirt was draped with imported chantilly lace scalloped at the edges which ended in a short train. The three-quarter lace overskirt was Shirred to feature a draped effect caught up with satin rosettes. The bodice was gathered to a sweetheart neckline with a low cut back in scalloped effect with lace trim and long ivy-pointed sleeves. Her shoulder length bouffant veil fashioned of silk illusion in over the face style was scalloped around the edges and flowed from a crown of seed pearls and matching satin rosettes. She carried a trailing ivy bouquet of red roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Gerald Morgan, of Port Hope, was matron of honour. The bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Mrs. Gerald Russell, of Harold R.R. 2, Ont., and a friend of the bride, Mrs. Wayne Clement, of Deseronto.

The three attendants wore identical street-length dresses fashioned of sapphire blue "pig skin" peau de soie. The Empire bodice featured a scalloped neckline with a deep V in the back and three quarter sleeves. The bell-shaped skirts were flattered with cabbage rosettes fashioned of the same material. They wore matching dyed shoes and short gloves. Their headresses were composed of three matching cabbage rosettes and they each carried one dozen long stemmed red roses.

Wee little Evelyn Steacy, Newtonville, niece of the groom, was a demure flower girl carrying one long stemmed red rose. She wore a short matching frock with gathered full skirt, wide sash tied with a bow and streamers. The bodice was enhanced with a Peter Pan collar and short sleeves, both edged with lace.

Timmie Brownson, Marmora, cousin of the bride as ring bearer was attractively attired and carried the rings on a satin cushion with lace trim which matched the bride's attire.

Ross Carlisle was groomsman for his brother. The ushers were Gerald Russett, Harold, Ont., brother-in-law of the groom and Jim McMullen brother of the bride.

The wedding reception followed in the church parlours where the bride's mother received her guests wearing a jacket dress of gold Italian brocaded rayon with brown feathered hat, matching accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a jacket dress of aquamarine brocaded rayon with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. They were assisted by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. M. R. Neal, Belleville, wearing a dress of wine rayon crepe with black accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was appointed with a white linen cloth and centred with a round four-tiered wedding cake iced in white with silver leaves and misted around the base with white whimsy tulle. The top was decorated with two hearts and centred with wedding bells. Pink and white lighted tapers in silver candelabra and the wedding flowers completed the nuptial setting. The four long tables were decorated with fan shaped motifs filled with sweet peas.

The waitresses were friends of the bride Misses Geraldine McFaul, Jane Bailey, Shirley Cotton, Ruth Howard, Marilyn Conley, Anne Sutherland, Edith deJonge and Mrs. Allen Munro.

The pastor was toastmaster and the groom's uncle, Orno Sharp, Mount Pleasant, spoke briefly expressing best wishes to the newlyweds. Following the cake ceremony the bride and groom served the wedding cake to the individual guests.

Guests were in attendance from Toronto, Newmarket, Belleville, Deseronto, Foxboro, Marmora, Frankford, Campbellford, Brimbare, Carmel, Vansickle, Wellman's and Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Carlisle chose for travelling to Detroit, Mich., and points in northern and western Ontario a beige walking suit with red velvet cloche hat, matching accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

The young couple will reside at the Carlisle homestead near Carmel where the groom's grandparents resided for many years.

Previous to the wedding the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower by her two bridesmaids. The young couple were also the recipients of a gift from St. Paul's Senior Choir and a shower party in the I.O.O.F. Hall by neighbours and friends.

'WATERFOWL FOR TOMORROW'

NORTH America's waterfowl have faced a series of crises since 1960, each time emerging satisfactorily, although not quite as well as before. Increasing numbers of hunters and decreasing wetlands, the results of population growth, more leisure time, urban sprawl and agricultural development, point to serious future shortages of waterfowl, even in years of good hatching conditions. Drought in the prairies, the heart of our duck producing territory, will recur from time to time, thus increasing the importance of production in other parts of Canada.

The solution of the problem according to the Ontario Waterfowl Research Foundation is to produce two ducks where we now produce one, and to establish new producing areas where none now exists. But how? Basic research is essential to gain the knowledge that will enable such organizations as OWRF to do these things. Very little is really known about Ontario's waterfowl. Across the province from the marshes of Lake Erie to the tundra rim of Hudson Bay lie many actual and potential duck producing areas — but the waterfowl resources of Ontario have been little explored compared to those elsewhere in North America.

The Ontario Waterfowl Research Foundation, formed in 1961, has before it a large and exciting task. Among the several objectives of the Foundation are: Research on the productivity of waterfowl habitats, particularly studies of the environment and how it affects nesting ducks, and studies of mortality, including predation and hunting.

Ontario's more distinctive types of habitat will be selected for special emphasis, especially the large marshes of southern Ontario, the medium sized acid bogs situated on the Precambrian Shield, and beaver ponds, of which there are many thousands throughout Ontario. Other objectives include — Research on methods of managing waterfowl habitats, both large and small, natural and artificial. Training of waterfowl biologists and managers to take their places in Government and private agencies, where they will be able to supply sound management practices. Distribution of the results of research through technical journals for use by scientists and managers, through popular bulletins for use by interested individuals, and by demonstrations, where feasible. Development of a research station with a collection of the waterfowl of Ontario available to support a wide range of research activities throughout the year, library, laboratory, and ultimately, demonstrations of waterfowl management techniques. An especially important aim is to make the results of all research and observations available to individuals and organizations, both government and private, who can use them for the betterment of waterfowl populations.

Acutely aware that action speaks louder than words, the Ontario Waterfowl Research Foundation has begun to make progress. In 1961 a study was made of waterfowl movements in relation to Luther Marsh. This study is aimed at answering the questions: "Where are the ducks produced which use Luther Marsh in the fall?" and "Where are the ducks harvested which are produced at Luther Marsh?" Both questions must be answered, in order to provide a guide to future public investment in projects like Luther Marsh.

In addition, one OWRF member supervised an independently financed study of the productivity of marshes at Ling Point, Lake Erie. A minor project also was initiated in 1961, an appraisal of the effectiveness of artificial nesting devices for ducks in southern Ontario. Two hundred and twenty-five Wood Duck nesting boxes were inspected. Predation by Racoons and use of boxes by Starling were found to reduce the effectiveness of nesting boxes for ducks. Methods of overcoming these factors are being sought.

The OWRF hope that by 1965 five or six projects will be underway simultaneously. Many phases of waterfowl biology must be studied in the wild. Other research requires the use of captive birds. Thus a research station is essential for the complete realization of the Foundation's objectives.

A property about an hour's drive from Toronto on the Speed River in the vicinity of Guelph, has been optioned by the Foundation. Previously developed as a private game farm, it lies within a Federal Waterfowl Sanctuary, and several species of wild waterfowl are available in all seasons. It is to be known as the Niske Waterfowl Research Station, Niske being the Cree word for Canada Goose.

Readers desiring further information of the OWRF programme are asked to contact A. T. Crangan, Executive Secretary, O.W.R.F., Department of Zoology, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. The Foundation is recognized as a charitable organization under the Canadian Income Tax Act, and donations to the Foundation may be deducted for Income Tax Purposes.

The O.W.R.F. programme deserves the support of all Ontario duck hunters in my opinion.

HUNT NEWS

Chuck Davidson and party got four deer while hunting from their camp at Weslemkoon Lake. But most hunters have not been nearly so fortunate. From Lou Mackie of Kawartha Airways comes a dismal account of this year's hunting in the northern Kawarthas and in Haliburton. Too many wolves are the chief complaint from hunters in the Apsley region. Generally the adverse weather conditions, too wet or too dry, seem to be the main reason for the decline of the deer kill.

Crop Rotation Can Change Nature of Soil

Crop rotation carried on long enough can change the nature of soil. This was the case in an experiment on clay soil at the Experimental Farm reports agronomist E. D. Spratt.

Fifty-two years ago 60 acres of clay soil were set aside to carry out two diverse types of cropping systems, he said. One had two years of wheat after summerfallow; the other was a 9-year rotation containing grass-alfalfa, wheat, oats, corn and summerfallow, with manure applied once every nine years.

The nine-year rotation maintained the organic content of the soil at 9.3 per cent while the straight wheat rotation reduced the organic matter to 8.1 per cent, amounting to a difference in humus content of about 12 tons per acre.

Mr. Spratt was interested in discovering how this difference would affect the use of fertilizer. Organic matter is the principal source of nitrogen and supplies much of the phosphorus needed by crops; it is also responsible for good physical structure or tilth.

Accordingly trials were carried out on uniform sites within the rotations for two years, various fertilizers being used. Results showed that wheat grown without fertilizer yielded about six bushels per acre more on the land richer in humus. This yield was equalled by summer-fallow wheat grown on the land poorer in humus after ammonium nitrate-ammonium phosphate (23-23-0) had been added.

Ammonium phosphate (21-48-0) at the rate of 80 pounds per acre proved less effective, probably because the level of phosphorus in the soil was already high.

None of the fertilizers had a significant effect on the yield of wheat on the 9-year rotation soil.

The study, said Mr. Spratt, showed that past management of soils may have a direct bearing on fertilizer use and should be considered along with soil testing results when assessing the need for fertilizers.

NEW REGULATIONS COVERING ICE FISHING HUTS

Ontario Regulation 164/63 made under the Game and Fish Act 1961-62 reads as follows:

- No person shall occupy a hut on the ice of any water for the purpose of fishing unless it bears on the outside the name and address of the owner.
- No person shall leave any hut used for fishing on the ice of Lake Temagami in the Territorial District of Nipissing or of any water south of and including the French and Mattawa Rivers and Lake Nipissing after the 31st day of March in any year.

The above legislation is specifically designed to enable enforcement officers to identify the owners and occupants of fish huts.

This is the first step in a move on the part of the Department to have the ice surface of district lakes kept clean, and to have all ice huts off the ice before the spring breakup.

Sodium-Sensitive Glass Helps High Blood Pressure Research

Many thousands of years ago, in the course of evolution, cells in man's forebears lived in a marine environment. Our history is reflected in our cells: They still have mechanisms, developed of necessity in that environment, for keeping salt outside themselves.

This ancient cell function has been known for some time to have some connection with high blood pressure. Just what the connection is, is not known. But recently, a husband and wife team at the University of British Columbia have been throwing new light on the process.

Dr. Sidney Friedman, an M.D. who is head of the department of anatomy, and his wife, Dr. Constance Friedman, who holds a PhD in anatomy, for 10 years have been studying effects of hormones (chemical messengers in the blood) on blood pressure.

From their studies, they got the idea that disturbances in blood pressure might be the result of abnormalities in a way a body handles salt.

For, while investigating hormones that raised or lowered blood pressure (adrenalin and histamine), they noticed that as blood pressure in animals went up or down, sodium (a salt) moved into or out of body cells. Since these changes occurred simultaneously, the Doctors Friedman reasoned that high blood pressure must cause the sodium to move across the cell wall; or that sodium moving across the cell wall raises blood pressure; or that a third factor causes both reactions.

Experiments such as theirs required some instrument to measure constantly the cellular changes, because blood pressure changes so rapidly that otherwise an enormous number of separate readings would be needed with extremely short intervals between them, and this would be impracticable.

What sort of instrument could be devised for such measurement?

Dr. Sydney Friedman found the answer in an article by a Philadelphia scientist, Glass, the article said, could be made sensitive to sodium by changing its aluminum content.

Dr. Friedman got in touch with the scientist, the scientist sent him samples of sodium-sensitive glass, and Dr. Friedman set about designing his cell-change instrument. One of his students, Joseph Hink, now at University College in London, is now well on the way to developing an electrode for the instrument, which will monitor the sodium content of a single cell.

With this instrument, it is hoped, the Friedmans may be able to show just how sodium salts are involved in blood pressure changes.

This study will take them right back again to hormones, because one of the most important factors governing the relation of outside sodium to sodium in the cell are the hormones from the hinder part of the pituitary gland and from the adrenal cortex.

From studies such as these, it is possible that something may be done to correct high blood pressure. For, to speculate a little, if the glands cause the condition because they are out of order, their action could be modified: If not enough hormone was being produced, additional supplies could be given to a patient. If too much is being produced, production could be slowed.

How your Savings Dollars went to work in 1963

Leslie Rawlings, Manager
Stirling Branch
Bank of Montreal

This is my personal report to the customers of my branch on the use of the Bank of Montreal made of the money you entrusted to us in 1963.

Nearly one-half of the total deposits of $3,961,675.03 at the Bank's year-end on October 31st, 1963, were the personal savings of our customers. From this total deposit figure — highest in our 146 years of operation — loans totaling $2,419,627.13 were reported.

Much of the money you deposited at the B of M went to assist people in financing the purchase of things that materially improved their way of life — cars, home improvements, household goods of all kinds. A substantial amount was also invested in loans to small and large businesses encouraging them to expand and employ more people.

Your money helped create new industries and new jobs...assisted farmers in improving their farms...built new schools and brought higher education within the reach of students...constructed new roads and supported all kinds of community projects.

Virtually every community throughout Canada was aided directly or indirectly by the money you put into your Bank of Montreal account.

Your savings dollars did a man-sized job for many people in 1963. And, accumulating at interest, they are growing steadily as a sound investment in a better future for you.

For the Bank of Montreal and for myself, may I say "thank you" for your trust and for the assistance you are giving us in helping to build a more prosperous Canada.

LEGION NOTES

The Annual Meeting of Branch No. 228 will be held in the Legion Hall next Tuesday, December 3rd at 8:15 p.m. All members of the branch are asked to attend and take part in this very important meeting. The officers and executive of the branch have worked hard during the past year to make the Stirling Legion a success. Their work deserves the support of all members. Please keep the date in mind, Tuesday, December 3rd at 8:15 p.m. in the Legion Hall.

Branch Secretary Bert Bastedo has asked us to remind all members of the branch to pick up their Christmas draw tickets as soon as possible. Many members have had these tickets for some time, however, a smaller number of members have not yet received them. The draw for prizes totalling over $100.00 will be held on Friday, December 20th. With the final date fast approaching it is hoped that all members will get to work and give this their full support.

It is expected that the annual meeting of the branch will also be asked to discuss plans for the annual New Year's Dance at the Legion Hall. The officers and executive would welcome any suggestions which would contribute to the success of this occasion. Please contact Branch President Allan Lawes.

As we near the end of another year, we make a final appeal to all veterans to consider their branch membership. We know of several district veterans who are eligible to join the Legion but have not done so. There are also a few who have not renewed their membership from last year. It is still not too late to do so.

Drivers' Permits

ceived in a volume as heavy as 3,000 per day.

What's the reason for the new system?

"Sheer volume made it essential to switch to a mechanized system of processing drivers' licences," Mr. Haskett said.

"Once the transition to the new system has been made, with licences being renewed on birth-dates all through the year, we will be processing applications for drivers' licences at the rate of about $0,000 a month. This is much more efficient than handling all two and a half million licences in a two to three month period each year."

"The three-year term of the licence will result in a measure of greater convenience for drivers, too."

"The mechanized methods make it possible to keep more complete files, resulting in better control over suspended drivers, better facilities for research, and other improvements in the interests of the safety of all drivers in the province."

Mr. Haskett said the first step in conversion was to make out punch-cards for every driver, and this began
